October 1st 2019

The Division of Medical Oncology at The Ottawa Hospital / University of Ottawa is seeking a medical oncologist to replace a retiring medical oncologist in our group of 26 academic physicians.

The successful candidate will primarily function as an academic physician, and the bulk of their practice will involve the care of GI cancer patients. In order to enhance our overall group and program, the selection panel would look favourably on candidates with expertise in medical education.

While not mandatory, being fluent in both official languages would be a strong asset.

Successful candidates must hold or be eligible for licensure in Ontario, and must have a Specialist Certificate in Medical Oncology from the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada, or be eligible for certification, and fulfil the requirements for appointment to The Ottawa Hospital and University of Ottawa. Preference will be given to Canadian citizens or landed immigrants. Candidates, in addition to being certified in medical oncology, should preferably have a higher degree in cancer research (Masters, PhD), or a specialist fellowship training.

The Ottawa Hospital Cancer Centre is the primary provider of medical oncology services to a mixed urban and rural population of 1,500,000 in Eastern Ontario, has approximately 4,000 new solid tumor Medical Oncology consults annually, offers a full spectrum of oncology services, and is a Canadian leader in oncology training and clinical research. Cancer is a priority focus for The Ottawa Hospital (one of Canada's largest teaching hospitals) and for the Ottawa Hospital Research Institute. The vision of The Ottawa Hospital is "to provide each patient with the world-class care, exceptional service and compassion that we would want for our loved ones" and the hospital's goal is to be a top 10% performer in Quality and Safety of Patient Care in North America.

Ottawa is Canada's national capital and has rich cultural and recreational opportunities. It has consistently been ranked as one of the best places to live in Canada.

If interested please submit a letter of interest and up to date CV, as a single PDF file, to Dr. Paul Wheatley-Price, Deputy Division Head of Medical Oncology and Chair of Selection Committee, University of Ottawa/The Ottawa Hospital at pwheatleyprice@toh.ca.

The deadline for receiving applications is 8am EST on Friday 1st November 2019.
